Keynote Speaker:

Jeff Rutt, CEO of Keystone Homes,

Founder: Hope International

Jeff Rutt did not pick home building as his first career. For 10 years, he and his wife worked hard on a dairy farm that stretched across 200 acres in Lancaster County, Pa. In 1992, he started Keystone Custom Homes with the same approach he used on his successful farm: be efficient, never give up and always keep a positive outlook.

Keystone Custom Homes has been named "America's Best Builder" three times and was recently named one of the top 100 builders in the country. Building homes isn't Jeff's only passion. He founded two non-profits that provide financial assistance to poverty-stricken people all over the world. Homes for Hope works with builders, subcontractors and others in the construction industry to build a new home for free. The proceeds from the home sale go to HOPE International to provide loans for struggling businessmen and entrepreneurs in countries where the economy is hurting.

Clients use these loans to buy equipment, supplies or anything else needed for their businesses. The loan is paid back, and HOPE International uses the money to provide a loan to another person in need. "HOPE International doesn't just give handouts," Jeff said. "We want to break the cycle of poverty so that these people who are working hard can become contributing members of society."

Jeff will talk about his life and faith, the home building industry and the great work being done by Homes for Hope, HOPE International and other non-profit organizations.
